

US teen pregnancy on the increase

Previous | Next

Teenage pregnancy rates have risen sharply for the first time in 10 years in the United States.

The US Department of Health and Human Services has revealed a 3% increase in 2005-06. Teenage pregnancy had been declining at a steady rate for the 10 years prior to then.

Many organisations are now trying to find ways to address this issue, recognising that the 'Just Say No' approach is not working.

- Introducing Philmont...
- Family anger at Katy Perry song
- Avatar film provokes suicidal thoughts
- Teenage pirate on trial
- Obesity problem amongst youth worsens
- Rick Warren's family in health crisis
- Is Barack more popular than Jesus?
- Toy sale provides school opportunities
- Man runs 'westernized' daughter over in car
- Judges send teenagers to prison for cash
- Iranian-American student arrested in Tehran
- US Evangelist arrested
- Soccer player becomes Catholic priest
- 'Virtual' becomes 'reality'
- MySpace develops its profile
- Florida Outpouring?
- Disney star promises abstinence until marriage
- Talking Sex
- "iDo", say Apple wedding couple
- Plea for youth vote in the US elections

0 Comments Posted Leave a comment

Add a comment:

Sign in to comment on this entry. (Required)

 Back to top

 Previous | Next